Atlantic Cable Matters

Official information has just been received here that the French Government has arranged with the French Cable Company to cancel the exclusive concession for landing cables from the United States on French soil.

Political—Morissey and Greeley Confer Together

NEW YORK April 2 The Citizens Association last evening adopted a memorial calling upon the Legislature to pass the new charter as it came from the Assembly, specifying many of its features as vast improvements which its members had for years recommended as necessary to the municipal government.

It is reported that a meeting has taken place between Horace Greeley and John Morrissey in which Greeley agreed to accept a nomination for the Governorship at the hands of the Young Democracy.

The Herald's cable dispatch says that [illegible] otherwise intimately associated with the proposed purchase of Cuba by the United States has been arrested at Queenstown charged with embezzlement from the Treasury Department in New York and remanded to prison.

The Republican city executive committee at a special meeting this afternoon unanimously adopted a resolution recommending the adoption of the new charter. The idea now influencing Republicans in this city is that if they oppose the charter a bargain will be forced between the young and old Democracy by which more satisfactory and desirable clauses will be struck out of the pending charter and the objectionable Board of Aldermen retained in office.

Fire in Indiana State Prison

LOUISVILLE April 3.—A disastrous fire occurred in Indiana State Prison this afternoon. The cells were entirely destroyed. One convict, a colored boy, was suffocated in his cell. The shops and factories in connection with the prison were not injured. Loss not yet known.

Cuban Affairs

HAVANA April 3.—A general movement of the Spanish troops against the rebels has commenced. Separate columns left Puerto Principe on the morning of April 1st. Another, which marched from Puerto Del Padre to attack the insurgents in rear of Valmaseda has advanced to Canto. Gen Geoynecha is in the mountains behind Lebanico. He reports 300 rebels surrendered there, and that he discovered and captured a depot of artillery, supposed to be the only one the rebels possessed. Prisoners report the insurgents' forces in a state of dissolution. Two powerful torpedoes were recently taken from under the rails on the Neuvitas and Puerto Principe Railroad, where they had been placed for the purpose of blowing up passing trains. Forty insurgents were killed in the Holquin Jurisdiction since the opening of the campaign. The steamer arrived from Cadiz to day with five hundred troops.

The First Votes of Colored Men Under the Fifteenth Amendment

NEW YORK April 3.—Two colored men at Perth Amboy New Jersey, on the adoption of the new charter last Thursday cast the first votes under the 15th Amendment in the United States.

The cashier of an extensive woolen importing house on Broadway is reported to have absconded with a large amount of money obtained by alteration of checks. Names of victims not given.

The Imprisoned American Consul

Port au Prince letters say Winer the American Consul recently arrested by Jarquet chief of the Haytien Insurgents, is still held as a hostage at Des Apricots. The English French and American Consuls at Port au Prince have taken the matter in hand and a fleet consisting of one English and two Haytien men of war have been sent to liberate Winer.

New York Legislature

ALBANY April 4 Bills are pending allowing the Central and Hudson River Railroads to advance the fare one third above the present lawful rates. In both Houses it is reported that the customary appliances are actively in progress in greasing the wheels of the Legislature. The Erie ring has several axes to grind but all are rendered subservient to one great object, the repeal of the bill of last year which enables Gould & Fisk to control that concern for five years. These and other railroad matters having to pay [illegible] in the [illegible] will occasion lively times after the New York charter and election bills shall be disposed of.

NEW YORK April 4 The [illegible] says it is impossible that there can be any truth in the statement telegraphed that Phillips the embezzler just captured in Ireland and Paul S. Forbes our negotiator at Madrid are the same person. Forbes is too well known to make the story other than ridiculous.

Preparations at Chicago to Receive the Remains of Gen Thomas

CHICAGO April 4 The arrangements for the reception of the remains of Gen Thomas are completed. The Committee announce that out of deference to the wishes of Mrs Thomas, as well as to be [illegible] unostentatious taste of the deceased, there will be no great pageant. The Committee will meet the funeral train at Riverside and accompany it to the city. During the few hours the body remains here salutes will be fired and all the bells of the city tolled. The Committee will also accompany the remains to the State line, where it is understood the committee from Indiana will receive them. Memorial meetings will be held and a eulogy delivered on the evening of the day of the funeral at Troy.

LONDON April 4 The British and Indian cable is complete throughout. The signals are excellent. Scudmore, the Director General of the Postal Telegraph service has entreated the public to avoid sending more messages to Ireland than necessary. The channel cable from [illegible] is broken and until the fault is rectified none but messages on urgent business and matters of life and death should be transmitted.

CALIFORNIA

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO April 4 The steamer Constitution carried to day $509 593 39

On Saturday night a Chinaman on Fourteenth street, Mission Dolores, was attacked by three [illegible] and beaten nearly to death. He was frightfully disfigured and robbed of a watch worth $40. He managed to crawl to a house near by and was removed to the hospital.

A boy named M Emanuel 9 years old residing at 417 Pacific street, returning from school this noon was run over and had his thigh and chest crushed and otherwise fatally injured by a heavy loaded truck. The driver Robert Legge went to the calaboose and surrendered himself but was released on his own recognizance.

Workmen in Blossom rock cut through into a bed of cobbles evidently near the surface today. The water was kept down by pumps and work at other points was uninterrupted.

City Gas Co capital $10 000 000 shares $100 each was incorporated to day. Trustees—J B Haggin, S F Butterworth, Lloyd Tevis and Thos Bell.

Frank Raymond an insane sailor ran through Jackson street to day and was arrested with much difficulty, handcuffed and taken to the calaboose.

Sailors from the British frigate Zealous are still deserting. One swam ashore last night.

Some wretch beat a man far gone in consumption until he was in an entirely helpless condition on Bay street last evening and made his escape. The assault is supposed to be a manifestation of pure cussedness. The assailant and victim were entire strangers.

The Judge of the Fourth District Court to-day designated the Examiner for the publication of legal advertisements.

The drawing of numbers by the workmen on the Yerba Buena Cemetery this afternoon was completed without disturbance. To-morrow work commences. About 1,200 drew numbers. There are four classes. No. 1 go to work to morrow for three days, 2 Friday for three days, 3 Tuesday and 4, Friday following so on in routine until the work is completed. The drawing would have been done this morning, but the confusion and crowding of workmen prevented the Commissioners from carrying it out.

John Hughes was arrested to day, charged with robbing a dying man named Skinkley of clothing, at the Original House. Skinkley died a few minutes after the alleged theft. Adam Eck arrested this evening an insane man named Bartholomew Lalley, who had made threats to kill Pat Buckley.

It is reported that both the Mission and Pacific woolen mills will be removed to Hunter's Point and consolidated, where they will make all kinds of woolen and knit goods and carpets, and turn out 45 000 suits of boys' and men's clothing complete, the first year. Two hundred boys and girls, 14, 16 and 18 years old, will be employed and Chinese labor gradually dispensed with.

The United States Grand Jury found indictments against 140 persons, for defrauding the Revenue on income returns, one for defrauding the Post Office Department, two for counterfeiting and one for grand larceny.

From Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES April 2 —Small pox is raging in Tucson and northern Arizona, more fatal among the native population, and a few cases among troops.

Fuller reports from San Diego mines are received. Quartz mining will be a success. Ledges in Julian District develop well. Rich paying quartz has been taken out of Hayden and other lodges. A large amount of rock is out and will yield an average of $75 to $125 per ton.

LOS ANGELES April 3 —But few cases of small pox in the city and of a mild type.

Rock paying as high as $900 per ton from arastra was worked at Soledad mine, owned by Don Pico causing excitement in that locality.

A prospector supposed to be Wm Collins of Sacramento was found March 22 by Indians in the wild region near the head waters of San Diego, and soon after died. He had lost his way and died from hunger and exposure. A gang of horse thieves infest the ranches of San Diego county.

It used to be a favorite idea with Southern politicians that ultimately the interests of the grain producing West would become so palpably identical with those of the Cotton States that they would form a political alliance ostensibly on the issue of free trade but practically for sectional ascendancy in all things. The war rudely dispelled the idea by eliciting from the West a demonstration of pronounced loyalty and sacrificing devotion to the Union. The consequence has been that we have heard very little of the old talk of sectional alliance until quite recently some of the Southern papers have again taken up the topic. The inspiration of this profitless discussion is to be found in the animosity which the Southern press and people bear toward New England, but if they would only reflect for a moment that the great majority of the Western people are of New England origin and still cling to New England ideas and traditions they would abandon their foolish efforts and the hopes of alienating the West from the East.

Stockton Dispatch.

STOCKTON April [illegible] —Considerable rain fell to day.

There is considerable talk in relation to the vote of the city in the approaching election appropriating $300 000 to the Stockton and Visalia Railroad. The general opinion is that the appropriation will be carried by a unanimous vote.

From Marysville

MARYSVILLE April [illegible] A new [illegible] Board of Councilmen go into office to morrow night. The Board stands Republicans and Democrats. The Marshal, Treasurer and Assessor are re-elected. The Marshal and Clerk are new officers.

Decline in American Commerce

[From the N Y Tribune March 15th]

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 14 1870

A delegation of iron ship builders and machinists representing every firm but two in this country were before the Special Committee on Navigation Interests this morning. Their object was urge such a change in the bills reported by the committee as would give a drawback on all imported materials used in ship building. Franklin W Smith of the Atlantic Iron Works, addressed the Committee at length. He stated that the bill [illegible] its face to assist both wooden and iron sail and steam vessels but as it gives to wooden vessels a drawback on all the material used and to steamships a drawback on but about half the material used the steamship builders in comparison with wooden ship builders, will be at worse disadvantage than before the passage of the bill. The drawback and bounty proposed for wooden ships would be equal to one-third of their present cost while on iron sailing ships, it will not be more than one-fourth the reduction. Wooden ships needed such aid less for to-day they were cheaper on the Kennebec than on the Clyde. Mr Smith read a series of resolutions, containing the figures to bear out [illegible] which had been adopted at a recent meeting of the delegation. The relief asked by the iron ship builders was the striking out of the limitation of the amount of the drawback and allowing them all the duties on imported material used in such construction. This would make it was stated, a drawback of about $71 per ton on iron sail vessels and about $53 on steamers. He also stated that beams and forgings should be admitted into the list on which drawbacks should be allowed. The Committee was urged to fix a limit to the period during which the drawbacks should be allowed [illegible] otherwise capital would be chary of embarking in the business. Immediate action on the bills was earnestly urged because, in order to begin building the present year, the [illegible] would have to be made within the 60 days, otherwise all business would be thrown back. Everything was hanging on the action of Congress. [illegible] of mechanics were wanting employment and the iron works were at a comparative stand-still. In answer to the question of the committee, Mr Smith and others stated that, in their opinion, the passage of such a drawback as they asked would at once stimulate iron ship building. They thought that eighteen iron ships and steamers, of 3 000 tons each, would be put upon the [illegible] within sixteen months from the passage of the bill. The Government aid would amount to about $1,800 000. Gen. Washburne and other members of the committee, declared that in their opinion such a result would be well worth the outlay. Mr John Roach, of the Morgan Iron Works, stated that from the time England decided to substitute steam for sailing [illegible] she began to increase her maritime power, and France, seeing the effect, immediately followed her example. So, in order to enable the United States to regain her position as a great naval power, as well as a [illegible] it would be necessary not only to help builders of all kinds of ships to obtain materials as cheaply as in England but also to take into consideration the extra cost of [illegible] the benefits of the bill accordingly. Mr [illegible] being willing to pay high freights for the rapid transportation of goods by rail, also [illegible] sailing [illegible] as a 3 000 ton steamship [illegible] two or [illegible] as much as a sailing [illegible] of the same tonnage and is equal in working [illegible] to three such sailing ships, the [illegible] to be conferred by the bill should not be given in proportion to the tonnage, but in proportion to the capital invested. The Government [illegible] this, [illegible] first would be of [illegible] while a fleet of sailing vessels would be of little use. Most of our present tonnage being old, and requiring rebuilding Mr [illegible] estimated that an [illegible] of $150,000,000 would be necessary. It will require from two to three years to organize and find capital to build one first-class [illegible] and put it in [illegible] than ten years would not lay the foundation for the permanent revival of ship-building. Mr. Roach stated that, within his knowledge $[illegible] 000 within two or three years, had [illegible] in New York in [illegible] alone; that capitalists had become cautious, and that any bill [illegible] by Congress would be closely scrutinized, and would fail to bring out capital unless it [illegible] inducements for [illegible] and safe [illegible] He therefore urged the Committee, after the pains they had taken to ascertain the causes of the decline in ship building to meet the [illegible] of the nation and offer liberal inducements to capital to build ships rather than pass a bill requiring more to be done in a short time than is possible, and therefore fail to accomplish the object [illegible] Mr L. A. Bools urged, as a wood ship-builder, that the position of the iron interests be sustained. He gave it as his opinion that the passage of such a bill would result in an entire [illegible] on the lakes, substituting iron for wood. He showed the advantage they would have in the [illegible] of the Welland Canal and also gave interesting facts relating to the efforts of Canadian [illegible] and capitalists to [illegible] the control of the West freight traffic. The Committee agreed to report amendments to the bill, so that beams and forgings will be added to the iron material. The proviso limiting [illegible] on drawbacks is to be stricken out, and a rebate drawback of the duties will be allowed. The bill is to expire in ten years from the 1st of July, 1870. The [illegible] a very interesting one.

THE DRY GOODS FIGHT IN NEW YORK.—For several days a desperate fight has been going on between Stewart and Claflin, the kings of the dry goods market. Stewart started it by marking down below Claflin's figures. Claflin followed suit. Stewart cut down again; then Claflin, then Stewart, then Claflin [illegible], then Stewart once more, and so the war has gone on for a week. Dry goods men tell me they never saw the market so excited as it is by this war between the two great houses. Both parties are selling at prices that are absolute ruinous. Trade was so disturbed by their operations that the agents of the different mills held a meeting and decided not to sell to any one except at a certain fixed price. Stewart had been selling some lines far below the agents prices (losing heavily of course, but they thought to steady the market by giving notice that they would not sell to any man who attempted to undersell them. Stewart continues his bear operations however, and the excitement is rising to a fever. He has demoralized the market to such an extent that it may take some weeks to restore steadiness. Several lines of seasonable goods are now going at a reduction of 30 to 40 per cent from last week's prices. The fight is characterized by outsiders as throat-cutting. Stewart's pugnacity and capital will carry him through, but houses not so strong as his will probably go by the board before the storm blows over.—N Y Cor Boston Journal.

A Comanche Indian a few days ago brought his squaw to a pioneer artist to have her picture taken. The artist got the squaw in position when the old Comanche thought he would investigate the mystery of making squaw pictures. He accordingly raised the cloth and looked into the camera, when he was astonished to see his wife standing on her head. At this he grew indignant, and even beat her for assuming such an undignified attitude before the soldiers, but as she stoutly denied the offence he continued his experiments and at last came to the conclusion that a machine that would stand his squaw on her head in half a second without her knowing anything about it, was exceedingly bad medicine.

White Pine is a lovely place to live in. The News of one day last month has the following in relation to a White Pine zephyr: "At the present writing we are in the midst of the most terrific storm we ever experienced anywhere. The atmosphere is not intensely cold, but it curls about with a rapidity, variety and industry not at all charming. The tin roof of the office has gone off entire and all hands are at work without shelter. The gale is so terrific that repairs cannot be made and we are compelled to freeze out praying for an early subsidence of the storm."

TUESDAY MORNING APRIL [illegible] 1870

The Oregon and California Railroad

The negotiation in Germany of the bonds of the Oregon and California railroad to the amount of five million dollars is an indication highly favorable to rapid progress of the work in our State. It assures [illegible] tion means for the rapid [illegible] of the enterprise. Every person is now [illegible] that this project is [illegible] permanent and stable foundation [illegible] ness energy, with capital at its command [illegible] bring to bear in the furtherance of the [illegible] will be used to push it with the greatest possible rapidity. We can hardly doubt that the road will be completed to the State line within two and a half years. During the present year the greater part of the route will be surveyed and located. So soon as the weather will permit the work of locating the route from the Umpqua valley to the southern boundary of the State will be commenced in earnest. Already a large number of men are employed in various capacities in connection with the road, and every preparation is making to work at all points as great a force as can be employed and used with advantage. The road certainly will be extended as far as Albany this year, and it may be pushed to a point one hundred miles distant from Portland. Seven thousand tons of rails for this road are afloat and on the way from England and it is expected that more will quickly follow. Two thousand kegs of spikes, a lot of car wheels and other materials, will come from New York by way of the isthmus and the whole will be here as early as September. It is intended to get the work in such a state of preparation and progress that there will be no need of discontinuing it during next winter. If equal energy is shown by the California company who are building the other end of the road the two States will be united by rail within three years from the time when the "first spike" was driven last fall at East Portland.

It has been whispered about by certain parties that so soon as the election is over the white men at work on the railroad will be discharged and their places filled by Chinamen. It may as well be understood that those who are conducting this enterprise are building a railroad, that they are working in earnest, and are going to make no child's play of it. They cannot afford to work in a dilatory and irregular manner, and do not intend to do it. We have it directly from Mr. Holladay himself that no man now at work who proves to be efficient and worthy will be displaced, and no Chinese will be employed so long as the requisite number of white men suitable for the work can be obtained.

In addition to actual work on the road, shops, depots, etc., commensurate with the magnitude of the undertaking will be erected. Docks for shipping will also be constructed, and every facility will be provided for the rapid transportation and export of the products of the State. So much for this one railroad enterprise and its prospects. If others can be started and pushed forward as we trust they soon will be, the growth and advancement of our State will be beyond all calculation.

By changing its name and organizing on a new basis the Oregon and California railroad has shaken off the embarrassments which have heretofore beset it, and started upon a new career. The idea of rivalry with the projected road on the west side of the Willamette, which was continually suggested by community of names, has been dispelled. It is a road which, standing on its own merits and considered with a view to its great prospective importance to the State, deserves well of the whole people. True, it cannot accommodate the whole western portion of the State, and no one railroad could. But it will be a great, important and efficient part of the railroad system which is to build Oregon up in wealth, greatness and prosperity. Enough is now seen of its prospects to convince every person that it is founded on a solid basis, and that, as a great business enterprise in which the whole State is interested, it is entitled to confidence. This much it is due to truth to say, and this much and more is due to an enterprise which promises results so important to the progress and well being of Oregon.

The One Issue

The repudiators tell us that the battle in Oregon this year is to be fought wholly on their eighth resolution,—that is, on repudiation. Some of them attempt to call it by a milder name, but others openly and plainly admit their design to repudiate, and all agree practically and substantially, that the effect of their policy would be to cut down the debt in part, or repudiate it in whole. Republicans, as defenders of the public credit and national faith, accept the issue as thus presented, and are ready to try it before the people. The extremists of the Democratic party would make the fight on this one question. So be it. And now let the appeal be made to the honesty of the people of Oregon.

Already this case has been presented in many ways, yet withal in few, compared with the infinite variety of the subject. The people of Oregon are urged by every motive that can appeal to them to strike a crushing blow at this attempt to put their State in a position which would bring lasting dishonor upon her. Patriotism calls for prompt and decisive action, honesty demands that dishonesty shall be rebuked, the credit of the nation, assailed here in a most flagrant manner, is to be rescued and upheld, and the good name of our State is to be vindicated from the aspersions it has suffered by having this platform of repudiation, this manifesto of robbery, published to the world as emanating from Oregon. If we look at the subject as relating to the national credit there is an overwhelming reason why the verdict of Oregon should be against this platform; if we look at it as affecting our interests as a State and as a portion of the American people who stand in peculiar need of assistance by national legislation and who require an influx of population and capital to make us strong and great and prosperous, there is a reason which appeals to us, not indeed with more power, but with closer application to our own condition and immediate interests, to record our emphatic condemnation of the leading proposition with which the Democratic party now comes before us. In no other State has such a proposition been presented by any party. Even the Democratic party elsewhere would shrink back from anything so characterized by infamy and outrage. In Kentucky that party with its seventy thousand majority, could not win on such a platform, in New York with such a platform it could not obtain the suffrages of one tenth of the people. Is it for Oregon to take a position which every other State would look upon as infamous and detestable?

Celebration of the Fifteenth Amendment

In a day or two the colored people of Portland will celebrate the accomplishment of the last of three great measures achieved within five years in the interest of their race and of republican government. The first was the amendment by which the doctrine of property in man was abolished; the second was the amendment conferring citizenship on the [illegible] investing them with civil rights; and the third [illegible] entitles them to suffrage and invests them with the [illegible] of American citizens.

There are few colored men in Oregon and [illegible] cannot be great, but [illegible] here are as a rule quiet, industrious and intelligent citizens. We cannot doubt that they will exercise intelligently the franchise with which they are newly invested. They know where their interests lie and they are fully capable of distinguishing their friends from their enemies. They remember [illegible] struggle by which the privileges they are now to enjoy have been secured to them, and so long as they remember this they cannot be at a loss to determine their course of political action. All that the party of freedom and equal rights can do in their behalf has now been accomplished and it devolves on them to show that they are worthy to be admitted to the privileges that have been conferred upon them. It is natural that they should celebrate the consummation of so great a change as has been effected in the condition of their race since ten years ago and the joyfulness with which they accept this change shows how deeply a love of liberty is implanted in human nature—not in white men only, but in all mankind.

Editorial Notes

The Olympia Transcript keeps on protesting that it will not support the Republican candidate for Congress in the June election. We should think these frequent protests unnecessary. The Republicans of the Territory, we believe, have not been expecting the Transcript's support.

If our railroad companies who are negotiating bonds in Europe would only employ eminent counsel like Slater, Fay, Kelly and Grover they could learn how in a few years, to "equitably adjust" the bonds so that there wouldn't be a cent to pay. Not only this, but they might also compel the holders of the bonds to disgorge the interest paid them. Such financial genius as these Democratic champions possess is really equal to the achievement of any miracle.

At the Democratic ratification meeting at Albany, on the night after the Convention A. J. Thayer, candidate for Judge in the second district, declared himself in favor of "square-toed and flat footed repudiation." L. L. McArthur, candidate for Judge in the fifth district, was an open and avowed repudiationist in the Convention. Do the people of Oregon wish to place the scales of justice in the hands of men who thus proclaim their own unfitness for such a position? What is repudiation but robbery? And are men who would perpetrate or justify robbery to be placed in the highest seat in our temple of justice?

Another illustration of what the Democracy call "equitable adjustment." Suppose the city of Portland were in want of a supply of pure water, and that it were necessary to construct expensive works to obtain it. Not having the money, the city is obliged to try its credit. Half a million dollars is the sum wanted. Bonds are issued, but they will not sell at par. Only sixty cents on the dollar can be obtained for them. But the city must have water and is obliged to take the money on the terms offered. The bonds have twenty years to run. At the end of that time the city refuses to pay the full amount of the bonds, on the plea that the bondholders drove a hard bargain and have had interest for a long time on a "bonus" which the city never received, and therefore the city proposes to "equitably adjust" them by cutting down their amount fully one-half. This is the case of the national debt, and this is exactly the way the repudiating Democracy would deal with it.

Perilous Voyage by the "Ajax"

FULL PARTICULARS

The Bulletin of March 29th, contains the following particulars of the voyage of the Ajax to San Francisco:

The steamer Ajax reached this port at 3 P. M. yesterday from Portland partially disabled, having had an extremely rough passage down. We have the following particulars from Police Officer Jones of this city, who was a passenger on board:

The Ajax sailed from Portland at 5:15 P. M. Saturday, March 19th, reached Astoria on the 20th at 7 A. M., and in about half an hour started across the bar at the mouth of the Columbia. While on the bar her rudder post was started and she put back to Astoria for repairs. A portion of her cargo was removed and the rudder adjusted, it was supposed properly, but when the engines were started, it was found that the propeller caught on the shoe or some other part of the rudder and could not be revolved. Again a part of the cargo was removed to bring the propeller to the surface, when the tips of its fans were cut off so they would clear the obstruction. This being accomplished the portion of the cargo which had been removed was replaced and the steamer resumed her voyage on the evening of March 24.—At about 3 A. M. of the next day she was struck by a heavy gale, and at 6 A. M. her rudder and rudder post were carried away.

A JURY RUDDER.

This left the steamer almost wholly at the mercy of the wind and waves. She fell into the trough of the sea and rolled terribly, so that it was difficult for the crew or the passengers to keep their feet. But Capt. Bolles and his officers and men were equal to the emergency. A spar was taken down and the upper deck aft cut away to some extent. The spar was then rigged as a jury rudder and the Ajax was got out of the trough of the sea and headed off shore.

BROKEN AGAIN.

The gale continued with unabated violence and soon the spar was broken and carried from its fastenings, leaving the Ajax again almost helpless. [illegible] and crew went to work shifting the cargo forward to bring the stern as far out of water as possible and give an opportunity to work. Another spar was taken down and rigged, but the propeller was encumbered by some of the lines and before it could be worked it was necessary to disengage it. The second officer volunteered to perform this perilous duty. A line was fastened around him and he dived several times and finally succeeded in clearing the machinery. With this heavy spar the course of the steamer could be controlled and she finally entered the harbor in safety.

A card of thanks to Capt. Bolles and his officers and crew is published in the same paper, from which we clip the following:

Resolved, That it is with feelings of great gratitude that the undersigned passengers by the steamship Ajax recognize the obligations we are under to the officers of the ship who have so safely brought us to our desired port.

That to their untiring exertions and sleepless energy we feel we owe our lives, so greatly imperiled.

That we consider for courtesy, bravery and thorough seamanship under the most trying circumstances Capt. J. Bolles stands at the head of his profession.

That alike to all the officers we return our hearty thanks for their perseverance, skill and kindness, and congratulate them on the successful issue of the voyage.

FIFTEENTH AMENDMENT.—Last evening several colored tax payers attended the school meeting and voted for school officers. This is the first time the elective franchise has been exercised in Oregon by colored men.

THE WEST

An Idaho paper of recent date says: We are informed by Mr. Robert Turner, of the Warm Springs, of a singular and beautiful phenomenon witnessed by him on last Friday night. He says that when the moon was about an hour high he saw two moons, one some distance below the other, apparently hanging in the heavens. The real moon was the highest of the two, still both were so perfect that it was difficult to distinguish one from the other.

A Washington dispatch of the 14th March says: The Indian mail contracts in Western and Territorial routes were awarded to-day. As stated, [illegible] Postmaster General Smith, under whose [illegible] the contracts are to be made under these awards will go [illegible] by the [illegible] impartial scrutiny, and it is expected that some of [illegible] will be thrown out as they are known to be worthless. It is a remarkable fact that [illegible] by any practical man who lives [illegible] the [illegible] this year, and [illegible] that after the [illegible] the contracts will be finally awarded [illegible] of [illegible] loss.

A Western Emigration Society has been recently organized in Montana. The principal object and plan of the Association is to [illegible] such information of Montana as will induce immigration to the Territory [illegible] as the head and [illegible] operating with associations in the several counties; the funds used to be derived from voluntary contributions. The membership fee is $5. The following officers were elected: President, Gov. James M. Ashley; Vice President, Robert Lawrence; Secretary, W. C. Gillette; Corresponding Secretary, Edwin W. Carpenter; Treasurer, John S. Atchison. This is getting the matter into practical shape. The Governor of Montana is the proper head of the Association.

A man named Hart was garroted and robbed of his watch and several hundred dollars on the 14th ult., near North Platte Station, U. P. R. R., and so cruelly maimed and beaten that his life is despaired of. The deputy sheriff and a posse of citizens visited a cabin near the vicinity of the outrage which had been occupied for some time by three men suspected of being desperate characters and arrested two of the party who gave their names as Frank Ward and James Baker. A broken bloody revolver and other evidences of their guilt were found on the premises. A lot of jewelry which was identified by certain parties as being stolen property was also found secreted in the bark of an old log near by. The prisoners were conducted to town and tried and were adjudged guilty of burglary, highway robbery and attempted murder. While the men were being conveyed from the court house to the jail, they were taken by a mob from the officers and hung to a telegraph pole. The third party, whose name is given as John James, and who was missing when the arrests were made, is reported to be lying dead on the prairie on the east side of the river.

IDAHO

[From the Boise News, March 20.]

Several thousand pounds of goods have been already sent from here to the Snake river mines.

A soap and candle factory under the management of Messrs. Hauthorn & Buck will soon be started in town.

During last season one firm in this place manufactured nearly 20,000 gallons whisky and cured 60,000 pounds of bacon.

Contracts have been let to survey the Upper and Lower Weiser Valleys, and it is expected that the work will be completed before the 1st of July next.

D. M. Chandler, the expressman, concerning whose safety fears were entertained, to which we referred in our last, has turned up all right at Atlanta.

There is not more than one half the butter used in this Territory made at home, yet it commands, the year round, an average price of 76 cents per pound.

In referring to the monthly report for January, 1870, for the county of Ada, we find that near 100,000 acres of land has been located by homestead and pre-emption prior to that date, mostly in this county.

Bart Maize, who pleaded guilty to the charge of manslaughter for killing a man named Johnson at Silver City last fall, and who was sentenced by Judge Lewis to the Territorial prison for a term of nine years, has been pardoned by Gov. Ballard.

A soldier named Pugh was dangerously shot at the house of Mr. C. E. Robbins, generally known as the Five mile Ranch, by the proprietor. The frequent visits of the soldier in question at the ranch, had become obnoxious to Mr. Robbins, who ordered him on a previous occasion to desist therefrom. Pugh, however, continued his visits, which resulted as before mentioned in his being shot. The ball, which was from a Colt's revolver, entered the corner of the chin, fracturing the jaw bone severely. Mr. Robbins had an examination before Justice Hans, and was discharged.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY

[From the Seattle Intelligencer, March 28th.]

A daily paper, it is rumored, will soon be published here. It is to be devoted to the advancement of the "Union" cause.

We understand the enterprising proprietors of the Tacoma Mill have in contemplation the erection of a telegraph line which will connect that place with Seattle.

Mr. Davis has received from the Department, a new schedule of the time of arrivals and departures of the mails on the route between Olympia and the Columbia river. The only change that we notice is the time of arrival here on Sunday at 6 P. M., is to be changed to Monday at the same hour. If this should continue in effect it would work a great hardship to the people living on the Sound below, unless the mail steamer should change her time of leaving until Tuesday morning. We understand that it is Mr. Davis' intention to arrive here on Sunday evening as heretofore, thus anticipating the schedule time twenty four hours and conferring a great favor to all living on the Sound.

Spurgeon has written a series of discourses for the common people, which are terse and pungent. The following is a sample of his style:

Boasters are never worth a button with the shank off. Long tongue, short head. Great talkers, little doers. Dogs that bark much run away when it is time to bite. The leanest pig squeals most. It is not the hen which cackles most that lays most eggs. Saying and doing are two different things. It is the barren cow that bellows. There may be great noise of threshing where there is no wheat. Great boast, little roast. Much froth, little beer. Drums sound loud because there is nothing in them. Good men know themselves too well to chant their own praise. Barges without cargoes float high on the canal, but the fuller they are the lower they sink. Good cheese sells itself without puffery. Good wine needs no bush, and when men are really excellent people find it out without telling. Bounce is the sign of folly. Loud braying reveals an ass. If a man is ignorant and holds his tongue no one will despise him, but if he rattles on with an empty pate and a tongue that brags like forty, he will write out own his name in capital letters, and they will be these: FOOL.

METEOROLOGICAL.—Common errors in respect to matters of meteorology are often surprisingly numerous. Perhaps nine people out of ten if asked whether most rain fell annually in New York or London would reply unhesitatingly in the latter. Yet the figures are 24 inches for London and 40.50 inches for New York. The two extremes of considerable cities are St. Petersburg and Vera Cruz, respectively, the mean rain fall in the first being 16, and in the second 183 inches per annum. In San Francisco despite its "rainy season" the average fall is precisely that of London. It is said that the heaviest amount known to be received by any part of the world drops on the Khasia Hills to the north west of Calcutta, and is equal to 600 inches annually. Rarely or never does rain descend on Sahara, and no day passes without it on Juan Fernandez. There is not the least doubt that the rainfall is measurably within the power of man to control, so that if the once famous Prof. Espy was mistaken as to means he was quite right as to ends. Several splendid estates in the West Indies have been almost ruined by cutting down the timber on them, while in the upper province of Egypt, where rain was absolutely unknown a few years ago, there are now frequent showers as a result of the twenty millions of trees planted by Mehemet Ali. Even the desert, it is now known, can be made to blossom as the rose by simply observing and copying the laws of nature.

OREGON

The delegates to the Republican State Convention from Clatsop county, are Col. J. Taylor, J. D. [illegible] and A. Montgomery.

The Corvallis Gazette says: The Willamette Freighting Company's new boat now in course of construction here is progressing rapidly towards completion. Her cabin is being roofed and painted.

A Mr. C. J. Blake, of Jefferson county, is reported to be about to issue a small volume entitled The Fruit Grower's Guide, treating of the causes of the decline of fruit trees and proposing a remedy therefor.

The steamer Fannie went up the river from Corvallis last Friday to bring down the Republican delegates from Southern Oregon. She is to connect [illegible] with the Fannie which will bring the delegates down from that place.

In relation to contemplated improvements at the State Fair grounds the Farmer says: During the past two weeks the Executive Committee has visited the Fair Grounds and has [illegible] this same [illegible] building an extensive addition to the pavilion, a large and commodious hay barn and [illegible] of new stabling. [illegible] which have stood the ravages of [illegible] will be torn down and so far as of value will be used for partitions, etc., in the erection of new [illegible]. The new building will be about 80 x 30 feet and so arranged that a hall the same length of the addition and about twenty four feet in width will be secured in the upper portion of the building. The hay barn will be 72½ x 30 feet with an entrance through the center of 12 feet. On one side the entrance will be a bay 30 feet square; on the other two bays 15x30 feet, one of these bays calculated for straw for bedding, the other for hay.

Board and Lodging

[From the New York Tribune.]

It is time the prices of living in hotels and boarding houses were materially reduced. Rents and wages are no doubt higher than in the summer of 1862 when the price of gold was the same as now, but some articles of heaviest consumption are cheaper than they then were, some are no dearer, and few command a higher cost. Yet the rates of the [illegible] for board and lodging are from twenty five to fifty per cent higher than they then were, and this at a time when the shrinkage of profits in most kinds of business makes it much harder for the community to pay. The table below gives a fair exhibit of the trade value of certain leading staples at the time referred to and at present:

	August 1862	March 1870
Pork Mess* bbl	$11 50 a $11 75	$25 00 a $26 00
Beef mess ex bbl	15 00 a	16 00 a —
Butter lb	10 a [illegible]	25 a 42

From this it appears that while pork, whisky and butter cost more to-day than in August 1862 beef and bread are at about the same figures and coffee is very much lower. The average difference does not justify the disparity in the price of living at the two periods even when the increased rents and wages are considered. Meanwhile the tendency of both these items is to diminish. Dwellings at least cannot be kept at their existing figures and the swelling stream of immigration even without Chinese aid promises ere long to put the value of domestic service more nearly on a par with that of older countries. Clothing has already fallen to something like the old fashioned gold standards and board and lodging must come down too. The lowering of taxes, for which we have so earnestly contended, is the proper signal for diminishing the burdens of the people in every direction, so that their possible earnings and needful outlay should resume a legitimate and healthful relation.

[illegible] no use to deny [illegible] fact the [illegible] statement we [illegible] somehow [illegible] have [illegible] be found [illegible] for bodily [illegible] and street [illegible] his wants. His [illegible] offer him [illegible] and in some [illegible] been brought to [illegible] instances [illegible] find with [illegible] notice [illegible] localities. Th [illegible] harnessed [illegible] by some gentlemen [illegible] matter was being [illegible] yesterday and the question [illegible] in our presence [illegible] What are we [illegible] our premises [illegible] to this? A [illegible] A dose of strychnine [illegible] and then the [illegible] poison [illegible] to [illegible] the right [illegible] opened. [illegible] can soon lear [illegible] for those places [illegible] What is to be don [illegible] to dodge [illegible] be given [illegible] them [illegible] have nothing [illegible] faster you [illegible] should an idler attempt [illegible] value exposed [illegible] premises be prepar [illegible] force his presence [illegible] with cold lead [illegible] for him. [illegible] circumstances has not the rig [illegible] a man under such [illegible] and family. It is hig [illegible] time that a case was [illegible] upon and a decisio [illegible] made by our courts.

[illegible] The press and peo [illegible] of [illegible] never allowed any occ [illegible] sion [illegible] by without givin [illegible] and producers a rap. Tho [illegible] Oregon product [illegible] and [illegible] untold thousands, [illegible] things have cost Oregon [illegible] doubt, but of late years there has been less [illegible] cause for such [illegible] a long way ab [illegible] men and [illegible] most with an [illegible] to abuse [illegible] of our shipments [illegible] the California markets. We have beat Californ [illegible] at her game of bluff by fair honorable dealing [illegible] and on the point of growls there is to-da [illegible] greater cause for our own home dealers to grum [illegible] ble at the condition of California productions re [illegible] ceived here than vice versa. Only yesterday ou [illegible] attention was called to a shipment of hominy fro [illegible] Oakley's Mills, 210 Sacramento street San Fra [illegible] cisco which had it been an Oregon lot in a Sa [illegible] Francisco dealer's establishment, about 1864 [illegible] 1869, would have been made the pretext for ha [illegible] or three quarters of a column in abuse of Orego [illegible] producers, in the commercial papers at "the Bay." [illegible] Up here we have too much legitimate busi [illegible] on hand to divert our attention for so long a tim [illegible] to such matters, but we just mention this as [illegible] example case showing that it is now "our turn t [illegible] growl"—but we are actually too busy to think o [illegible] doing so.

THE LAST FASHION.—Oregon will have a ne [illegible] [illegible] Paris has introduced it, and of cours [illegible] Oregon cannot be behind the great millinery hea [illegible] [illegible] of the world. And this new fashion [illegible] oddity. After Eugenie went to Egypt her fa [illegible] cheeks were browned to a beautiful nut color b [illegible] the burning sun of the Nile. Singularly, too, th [illegible] [illegible] has become an advantage. The Empre [illegible] is nearly forty, and the bloom of her features ha [illegible] been robbed of its freshness. The marks of tim [illegible] that showed so plainly on the lily face were con [illegible] [illegible] by the swarthy complexion, and the Em [illegible] resolved to continue the attraction. So he [illegible] [illegible] since then have been colored a rich olive. [illegible] All the ladies of the Court followed suit, and th [illegible] pest of Paris fell into the same line. All the fem [illegible] [illegible] became dusky, and then brown [illegible] fashionable with the milliners and tradesmen [illegible] erally. Dresses, bonnets, cloaks, gloves, [illegible] ribbons and all the paraphernalia of a woman's [illegible] wardrobe assumed the imperial color. So it [illegible] now, and the color is traveling with the sun, to [illegible] wards this country. It will be here before long [illegible] so our lady readers can get ready for the ne [illegible] style.

ACTIVITY AMONG FARMERS.—A gentleman [illegible] from West Chehalem yesterday, informs us tha [illegible] the fall sown wheat is looking better at the pre [illegible] ent time in that region than he has known it fo [illegible] the past twenty one years. Grass is growin [illegible] finely and is now good pasturage for stock [illegible] Farmers are very actively engaged in their sprin [illegible] work and the outlook was never more encourag [illegible] ing for a bountiful yield of grain and fruit. Th [illegible] [illegible] reports reach us from other sections of th [illegible] State. The pleasant weather of the past wee [illegible] has afforded abundant opportunity for out doo [illegible] employments in general and the opportunity ha [illegible] improved. We hear of farmers who pro [illegible] pose this year to double the number of acr [illegible] they have yet ever placed under cultivation. Immi [illegible] gration promises to add largely during the [illegible] to our producing population and by 1871 th [illegible] [illegible] who have wisely concluded to leave Cali [illegible] fornia and the cold regions of the Western State [illegible] to locate here where industry never fails to rea [illegible] [illegible] harvest, either of precious metals or [illegible] [illegible] crops, will be such as to forever [illegible] fix the seal of empire upon our pros [illegible]

Two brothers from the [illegible] kingdom engage [illegible] in a setto on the street yesterday.

TUESDAY MORNING APRIL 5 1870

CITY.

PETTY THIEVING.—It is of no use to deny the fact that this city at present contains a small population of thriftless idle mortals who must live somehow But in making this statement we do not wish to be understood as saying that every idle man in our midst is to be thus classed We have very many honest men no doubt who is in employment which is not to be found just now At night however the petty thief who has a distaste for honest toil and a great desire for bodily comfort comes out from his covert and silently makes his rounds Insecure doors offer him a chance to supply his wants He needs no [illegible] compel him to press his suit and in some instances which have of late been brought to our notice, it is really a surprise to find with what [illegible] and audacity they ply their vocations This matter was being talked over by some gentlemen in our presence yesterday and the question was "What are we to do if there is not some [illegible] put to this?" A dog will not protect your premises A dose of strychnine or some other deadly poison, soon fixes the dog and then the way to your storehouse of provisions and clothing is opened. While the police are the right men for the places yet the rascals can soon learn to dodge their movements What is to be done then? The only answer that can be given is to fasten your doors securely and have nothing of value exposed. Then, should an idler attempt to force his way upon your premises be prepared for him. Give him a reception with cold lead If a man under such circumstances has not the right to protect his homestead and family it is high time that a case was agreed upon and a decision made by our courts

OUR TURN TO GROWL.—The press and people of California, formerly never allowed any occasion, however slight, to pass by without giving Oregon productions and producers a rap Those things have cost Oregon untold thousands no doubt, but of late years there has been less occasion for such slurs as were [illegible] common, and instead of going along way [illegible] we now meet with no [illegible] respectable notice of our shipments to [illegible] markets We have beat California at the game of bluff by fair, honorable dealing—and at the point of "growls" there is to day [illegible] cause for our own home dealers to grumble at the condition of California productions [illegible] than vice versa Only yesterday our [illegible] was called to a shipment of hominy from [illegible] Mills, 210, Sacramento street San Francisco, which, had it been an Oregon lot in a San Francisco dealer's establishment, about 1864 to 1866, would have been made the pretext for half [illegible] of a column in abuse of Oregon [illegible] in the commercial papers at the Bay [illegible] have too much legitimate business on hand to divert our attention for so long a time [illegible] spotters, but we just mention this as a [illegible] showing that it is now 'our turn to [illegible]' we are actually too busy to think of [illegible]

THE LAST FASHION.—Oregon will have a new [illegible] Paris has introduced it, and of course [illegible] must be behind the great millinery head [illegible] of the world. And this new fashion is [illegible] After Eugenie went to Egypt her fair [illegible] was browned to a beautiful nut color by the [illegible] eye of the Nile. Singularly, too, the [illegible] became an advantage The Empress [illegible] and the bloom of her features has [illegible] of its freshness The marks of time [illegible] so plainly on the lily face were con[illegible] by the swarthy complexion, and the Em[illegible] to continue the attraction So her [illegible] have been colored a rich olive [illegible] of the Court followed suit, and the [illegible] fell into the same line All the fem[illegible] dusky, and then brown became [illegible] with the milliners and tradesmen gen[illegible] bonnets, cloaks, gloves shoes, [illegible] and all the paraphernalia of a woman's [illegible] assumed the imperial color So it is [illegible] and the color is traveling with the sun, to [illegible] this country. It will be here before long, [illegible] can get ready for the new [illegible]

[illegible] AMONG FARMERS.—A gentleman in [illegible] West Chehalem yesterday, informs us that [illegible] wheat is looking better at the present [illegible] in that region than he has known it for [illegible] twenty one years. Grass is growing [illegible] and is now good pasturage for stock [illegible] are very actively engaged in their spring work, and the outlook was never more encouraging [illegible] yield of grain and fruit. The [illegible] reports reach us from other sections of the [illegible] The pleasant weather of the past week [illegible] abundant opportunity for out door [illegible] in general, and the opportunity has [illegible] We hear of farmers who propose this year to double the number of acres they [illegible] under cultivation Immi[illegible] to add largely during the season [illegible] population, and by 1871 the [illegible] have wisely concluded to leave Cali[illegible] gold regions of the Western States [illegible] where industry never fails to reap [illegible] harvest, either of precious metals or su[illegible] will be such as to forever hereafter [illegible] upon our prospects.

BRIEF MENTION.—An uncalled for message to [illegible] is at the Oregon Steam Navi[illegible]

[illegible] from the flowery kingdom engaged [illegible] on the street yesterday

[illegible] yesterday was very unfavorable [illegible]

[illegible] Carrie brought a full load to this [illegible] from Pumphrey's on the Cowlitz

[illegible] Cahn, injured by a falling awning [illegible] 14th ult., was able to be out in a carriage [illegible] Sunday.

[illegible] that Mr Ben Holladay & Co [illegible] building a large double wharf and warehouse [illegible] C and D streets, on the river, this [illegible]

UNITED STATES COURTS.—In the United States District Court, yesterday Judge M P Deady [illegible] was ordered in the matter of the steamboat [illegible] regarding proceeds that $2 000 be paid to [illegible] claimant, and that said claimant have until Monday to answer the claim of H W Hend[illegible] to a part of said proceeds In the matter of [illegible] Bachman vs Everding & Boehe, the case was placed on the docket for trial and [illegible] set for the 25th inst Proclamation was made in the case of the United States vs one Copper Still one Wine Press, etc and no claim [illegible] judgment of forfeiture was entered. The U S Circuit Court will meet at 10 o'clock this forenoon

THE TENNANT MURPHY CASES.—The causes brought against Wm Tennant and Dennis Murphy, by the State of Oregon before Justice Anderson, on charges of assaults with dangerous weapons, were tried yesterday Mr Tennant was first arraigned and the preponderance of evidence went to show that so far as his action was concerned it was in self defence and he was discharged. Upton for the State Stout for defense Dennis Murphy was next arraigned and after the examination was held to bail in the sum of [illegible] for his appearance at the Circuit Court Upton for the State Caples & M[illegible] for the defense.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.—On Wednesday evening, at the Baptist Church, that being the evening of the fourth regular meeting of the Congregational Temperance society Rev I D Driver will deliver an address upon the subject of temperance As there will be no charge for admission and the lecturer, in all probability will be one of considerable interest, the Church will be well filled

"SPUD" MURPHY AGAIN.—"Spud" Murphy is again in limbo Cause unprovoked assault upon a crippled man who is keeper of a cigar stand where "Spud" called for a smoke yesterday and refused to pay for what he had ordered

ARREST FOR LARCENY.—The man Th[illegible] who celebrated the 9th of March [illegible] land and is well known to the police as an unknown man and a half breed named [illegible] were yesterday taken into custody on a charge of larceny Their misdemeanor partake more of the nature of highway robbery than larceny [illegible] we are pretty informed It appears that they took their man [illegible] the tree with them in the shade [illegible] where [illegible] Mr M[illegible] came up to day for examination before Justice Anderson

COUNTY COURT.—The County Court for Multnomah county Judge Marquam met in regular session yesterday On application Mrs Hannah M Smith was appointed executrix of the estate of Hiram Smith deceased In the matter of the case of [illegible] vs [illegible] action to recover money Demurrer to complaint was argued Whalley & Fechheimer for plaintiff Caples & M[illegible] for defendant The commissioners will meet for the transaction of business on Wednesday morning

THIEVES AT LARGE.—Two thieves supposed to be a man called Buffalo Bill and [illegible] Bill of Harper's Weekly notoriety and a man known as David Jones have for two days past evaded the officers on their track They are accused of having stolen sundry articles of value from the steamer [illegible] where Buffalo Bill has recently been employed in the capacity of watchman The stolen property has been recovered but the thieves are at large

NOT A WORD OF TRUTH.—We yesterday stated that parties here were negotiating for the lease of White's new hotel building The person who gave the bit of information assured us so positively of its truthfulness that we did not seek to have it corroborated the hour being late in the evening Yesterday we found that there was not one word of truth in the report This comes from Mr White himself The house is still for rent

DISGRACEFUL FIGHT.—Two men who are old enough to know better, and claim too much respectability to be caught in such a disgraceful affair as a fight were arrested last evening for having damaged each other [illegible] extent which [illegible] reputation One of the belligerents was locked up in jail and the other admitted to bail for their appearance this morning before Justice Anderson

THE GROVE.—Welcome our grove appeared in both German and English at the Turn Verein Hall last evening where the U A O D gave their first anniversary ball We venture to assert that Turn Verein Hall was never more handsomely decorated and that no more pleasant party of ladies and gentlemen ever met there for enjoyment of the "light fantastic."

LOST HIS VOTE.—Charley [illegible] who has been sustained in this city for some time past on a very doubtful mission and spent about an average of nine tenths of his time in the city jail has lost his vote by absenting himself on the day following his opening a meat market probably with a [illegible] Charley [illegible] to keep out of reach of the officers

REAL ESTATE SALE.—Mr A J Richardson will dispose of a part or parcel of real estate to day at 2 o'clock P M, at the east door of the court house It is very desirably located for a residence The property belongs to heirs and is sold on an order of the County Court O Risley administrator

BILL PASSED.—It was reported last evening by parties supposed to know that the West Side railroad bill had passed the House This news if correct doubtless came by private dispatches and will probably be reported in the press dispatches of to morrow

GEORGE PEABODY.—The lecture this evening by Prof S C Simpson George Peabody will be the fifth in the course for the benefit of the Young Men's Christian Association The title alone ought to be sufficient to fill the spacious Philharmonic Hall

WELL TO REMEMBER.—Patronize home institutions and home enterprise in preference to sending your money elsewhere and spend it with those who advertise their business

LADIES RELIEF SOCIETY.—The ladies of [illegible] society will meet at the usual place to day at 2½ o'clock P M

One of the queerest passages ever put in a town report may be found in that of the last annual of the Greenfield Mass selectmen They announce that the town farm and almshouse have been carried on the past year to our reasonable satisfaction Especially the almshouse at which there has been an unusual amount of sickness and three deaths Doubtless both sentences are all right but they sound very oddly together They recommend the sale of the town farm and the purchase of a new one nearer the village At present the institution is five miles off

The Soft No

oung Kitty sat knitting "My darling," I said,
"I have had a most beautiful dream hall I tell it?" She gave a slight shake of the head,
And answered "I'm turning the seam."

ouched for the mesh speckled soft like a pink
That she held in her fingers so small ut she answered "I can't leave my work, only think I'm knitting a sock for doll"

Don't tease me so, Kitty, my dear little one
You are dying to hear—I'll be bound
Just wait," she said smiling as bright as the sun,
"Just wait till I've knitted around."

waited impatient, and then I drew near
And, pushing the curls from her brow, said "Are you ready, my Kitty, my dear?"
She answered "I'm narrowing now."

till nearer I drew—put my arm round her waist
And breaking of silence the seal
Repeated "Dear Kitty! why, what is your haste?"
She answered "I'm setting the heel."

I am tired, and I frowned—I looked up at the clock—
At the coals 'neath the forestick aglow
And then at dear Kitty—she held up the sock
Saying "Would you put white in the toe?"

You shall hear me, Kitty, you dearest of girls
And then, if you will, you may scoff!"
She shook loose the hand I had laid on her curls
As she said "I'm just binding off."

I dreamed of a cottage embowered with trees
And under the bluest of skies
She checked me with—"Sit farther off, if you please
My needles will get in your eyes!"

I dreamed you were there like a rose at my door
And that love, Kitty, love, made us rich
"I told you to sit farther off once before
She answered "I'm dropping a stitch."

She knitted the last, and had broken the thread
When I cried: "Am I only a friend?
Or may I be lover?" She quietly said
"Pray wait till I've fastened the end!"

"Will you marry me?" Here the worst came to the worst,
There was nothing to do but to go
For I learned at the last what I might have known first
It was all her soft way to say No!

A Startling Statement

GIGANTIC SCHEME TO DEFRAUD BANKS, MONEY LENDERS AND STOCK OPERATORS

[From the N. Y. World, March 16.]

A scheme is already organized to commit the most gigantic frauds on our banks, money-lenders, and stock operators. If successful, the chiefs will realize from thirty to forty millions of dollars profit. They will do so without violating any law. It is determined by these bold and reckless men to strike a sure blow at all our banks and money-lenders that are connected with the dealings on the Stock Exchange.

The plan is based upon the experience of the September gold game. It is simple and obvious. On Sept. 24, those who had covered their short sales of gold at a profit, as they thought, of 20 per cent., found they had, in place thereof, realized a loss of about 10 per cent. They found themselves long of gold at 140, instead of short at 160, when the price was 132. The persons who bought from them at 160 failed. Those from whom they bought at 140 to cover their shorts at 150 did not fail to insist in their taking the gold at 140.

The same thing that was thus done in gold last September is now organized to be done in stocks when the time comes, only on a more general and gigantic scale.

New firms, with sufficient capital to have credit at the banks and in the street, have been started. Old firms in good standing, and members of the Stock Exchange, are in the conspiracy to perpetrate this gigantic fraud on our banks and rich stock firms and operators. Certain firms in high standing at the appointed time will give numerous orders to thirty-second brokers. These again, in turn, will be instructed to redistribute their orders to all the brokers they can. Prices of stocks will be run up rapidly, as gold was from 135 to 160 last September 24. The rich shorts in stocks are expected to settle large differences in stocks, just as they did in gold before 1 P. M. on September 24. When the rich shorts have been frightened into settling and paying, as in gold in September, then conspirators will sell all they can for cash, or regular, or sellers' options in every stock through their "selling" firms, and while, at the same moment, their "buying" firms are bidding the market up and buying all that offers, as they did in gold. Next day the "buying" firms will of course fail as in September. They will, however, so arrange as to fail "honorably," regularly, and according to law. They will thus not only avoid suspicion, but secure the sympathy of the Stock Exchange, as unfortunate victims of a wild and senseless panic engineered by the "bears." The "buying" firms will also get all the checks they can certified by the banks. They calculate to settle easily with the banks, who will want to conceal their losses, by paying some cash, say 50 per cent. or 25 per cent., and giving their notes in full, with interest, for the balance. The "buying" firms are not at present reputed rich, and in high standing. They calculate to stick all the thirty-second brokers they can by asking them to buy in their own name till next day. "Next day" the "buying" firms will fail. They will, however, agree to make it all "right," if the thirty-second brokers will just assume all the liabilities as their own, and settle for them by their own notes and in their own name. The "selling" firms will of course deliver the stocks they sold. There will be no grounds for suspecting them, or for investigating their transactions, because they simply sell what the victims of their own volition choose to buy.

It has been ascertained that there are nineteen brokers' firms already on the list, to be used as "buying" firms. All, except three of them, are in entire ignorance of this conspiracy, and of how they are to be used in perpetrating this gigantic fraud.

The "selling" firms are few, and possess choice names in high standing. They are eminently religious, good and wealthy men, in fact men that always make their "calling and election sure." They are salt, "salt of the earth," to pickle its sinners. They can obtain their clergyman's certificate any moment for anything they ask.

The banks, money lenders and rich stock firms and operators, destined as victims by these swindlers, ought to lose no time in taking measures to protect themselves. Those who will sell short will be certain to be victimized. Those who buy long ought to call up margins. There are over 1,000 members of the Stock Exchange whose contracts members are forced to take. One half of these may be used unwillingly by these conspirators.

The Superior Tribune, of March 5, has the following.

Our readers need not be surprised if the iron for the Northern Pacific should be manufactured right here at the head of the lake. This project is now seriously contemplated, and we regard it as one of the probabilities that it will be carried into effect. The best iron in the world is found upon the shore of Lake Superior, and, if pending negotiations should be consummated, certain Eastern capitalists are ready to erect the necessary shops and furnaces. We presume that the shops could be built and the ore dug and manufactured into rails, in time for use upon the first section of 200 miles, but that this could be done for the rest of the road there is not much doubt. The St. Paul Dispatch is informed that this statement relative to the manufacture of iron has solid foundation. The Lake Superior and Mississippi and Northern Pacific Railroad Companies have made arrangements to establish large rolling mills at Duluth for the manufacture of railroad iron.

"Who are you?" inquired the magistrate in a New Orleans court of a wild-looking fellow brought before him.

"Your father, sir."

"What!" exclaimed the astonished judge.

"I said your father."

"Why, I've got none."

"Are you sure?"

"Quite certain."

"Then I reckon I'm mistaken, but your ears deceive me."

"My ears! Why, how could that be?"

"All my children have long ears, sir, very long ears; there are but three of this species, sir, my children, the rabbits and the donkeys. You are not a rabbit—"

The outraged Judge could endure no more, but shouted at the top of his voice to the officers to take him down.

"Oh, sir, I hear you bray!"

The poor fellow was sent to the asylum.

The Josh Billings Papers

MARRIAGE

Marriage is a fair transaction on the face of it, but the [illegible] often put up [illegible] bargain.

It is an old institushun, older than the pyramids, and as phull ov hyroglyphics that nobody can parse.

History holds its tongue who the pair was who first put on the [illegible] harness, and promised to work kind in it thru thick and thin, up hill and down, and on the level, rain or shine, survive or [illegible] perish, sink or swim, drown or [illegible].

But who ever they was [illegible] have a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] out ov it, and the [illegible] ov their posterity would not [illegible] [illegible].

There are [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] that both [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] together.

But there ain't but darn few pholks who put their money in matrimony who could sett down and give a good written opinyon whi on arth tha come to do it.

This iz a grate proof that it iz one ov them natral kind ov ackcidents that must happen, just az birds fly out ov the nest when they hev feathers enuff, without bein able tew tell why.

Sum marry for buty, and never diskover their mistake; this iz lucky.

Sum marry for money, and don't see it.

Sum marry for pedigree, and feel big for six months, and then very sensibly cum tew the conclusion that pedigree ain't no better than skimmilk.

Sum marry bekawse they hav bin highsted sum where else; this iz a cross match, a bay and a sorrel; pride may make it endurable.

Sum marry for love without a cent in their pocket, nor a friend in the world, nor a drop ov pedigree. This looks desperate, but it is the strength of the game.

If marrying for love ain't a success, then matrimony is a ded beet.

Sum marry because they think wimmin will be scarce next year, and live tew wonder how the crop holds out.

Sum marry tew get rid of themselves, and diskover that the game was one that two could play at, and neither win.

Sum marry the second time to get even, and find it a gambling game—the more they put down the less they take up.

Sum marry tew be happy, and not finding it, wonder where all the happiness goes to when it dies.

Sum marry, they can't tell why, and live, they can't tell how.

Almos everybody gets married, and it is a good joke.

Sum marry in haste, and then sit down and think it carefully over.

Sum think it over careful fust, and then set down and marry.

Both ways are right, if they hit the mark.

Sum marry rakes tew correct them. This is a little risky, and takes a smart missionary to do it.

Sum marry coquetts. This is like buying a poor farm heavily mortgaged, and working the balance of your days to clear oph the mortgage.

Married life hez its chances, and this is just what gives it its flavor. Everybody luvs tew phool with the chances, bekause every boddy expekts tew win. But I am authorized tew state that every boddy don't win.

But, after all, married life is full az certain az the dry goods bizness.

No man can swear exackly where he will fetch up when he touches calico.

Kno man kan tell just what calico haz made up its mind tew do next.

Calico don't kno even herself.

Dry goods ov all kinds iz the child of circumstansis.

Sum never marry, but this is jist ez risky; the disease is the same, with another name to it.

The man who stands on the banks shivering, and dassent, is more apt to ketch cold than him who pitches his head fust into the river.

There is but few who never marry bekause they won't—they all hanker, and most of them starve with bread before them (spread on both sides), just for the lack of grit.

Marry yung! is my motto.

I hev tried it, and I know what I am talking about.

If enny boddy asks yu whi yu got married (if it needs be), tell him yu don't recollekt.

Marriage is a safe way to gamble—if yu win, yu win a pile, and if yu lose, yu don't lose enny thing, only the privilege of living dismally alone, and soaking your own feet.

I repeat it, in italics, marry yung.

There iz but one good excuse for marriage late in life, and that is—a second marriage.

I'll Take Care of the Cats

A gentleman, who shall be nameless, but whose modest physiognomy will be easily recognized by smokers and expressmen on the Northern railroad train, often tells a little story just to drive away dull care. The following is his last:

"Ah! by Jove! that reminds me of a good story. Not long since there lived in Manchester, New York, an aged remnant of a bankrupt stock of mortgaged chattles, who consoled himself in the loss of his family and property by constituting himself one of the invited drinkers who hang around the bar of a country grocery store. Old Jake B—— was a curious chap, ever ready to take or give a joke, and particular fond of doing the boys (old fellows of sixty) and making them victims of circumstances. Well, in the course of human events, this octogenarian shuffled off his mortal coil. In due time the sexton was summoned. He came, looked puzzled, stood a while and went away. Shortly after he returned with a board and rope, looked puzzled, stood around a few minutes with his hands in his pockets, and his hat cocked on his left ear. How should he 'straighten' the body so that it would make a respectable appearance? This was a poser. After scratching his head, and resorting to more than a usual debate in his own mind, he hit upon the expedient of tying his feet down to the board, taking the kinks out of the body and binding the rope around the head. This would keep him straight and make the job satisfactory to the mourning relatives. Having accomplished the 'laying out,' he engaged an old retainer by the name of Joe Smith to do the 'sitting up,' and departed. About midnight Joe wanted to smoke, and so he vacated the room for a few minutes. Upon his return he discovered that two cats had stole in when he stole out. One was perched upon the feet and the other upon the head of the defunct, and both were howling piteously. There was no time for 'foolin'.' He clutched a chair and went at them. The first intruder was knocked through the window, but his second was not so fortunate; instead of hitting Thomas, he hit the rope, and knocked it out of shape, whereupon the corpse rose up into a sitting posture. This sudden and somewhat belligerent attitude of the watcher's friend didn't frighten him in the least. He was equal to any of the old man's jokes, and thinking this was one of them, and being determined not to be fooled, he bawled out:

'Darn ye, old man, lay down, and I'll attend to the cats!'"

The Montana Pick and Plow estimates that there will be not less than 30,000 miners in the Big Horn district within the next six months.

The Union Republican voters of the State of Oregon will meet at the City of Portland, at 10 o'clock A. [illegible] [illegible] will be entitled to delegates as follows:

Baker		Lane	12
Benton	1	Linn	18
Clackamas	1	Marion	24

The Committee recommend that the County Conventions for the election of delegates be held on Saturday, the [illegible] day of March, 1870.

By order of the State Central Committee.

M. P. BERRY, Chairman.

T. B. Odeneal, Secretary.

[illegible] [illegible] January 19, 1870.

Republican Territorial Convention

To the Republican Voters of Washington Territory.—By an Act of Congress approved March 3, 1869, the Delegate to which this Territory will be entitled in the Forty-second Congress of the United States is to be elected on the first Monday in June, being the 6th day of June, 1870.

The Republican Territorial Central Committee have therefore called a Republican Convention to assemble on Thursday, the 21st day of April next, at 10 o'clock A. M., in the city of Vancouver, to put in nomination a candidate for Delegate, and to transact such other business as may properly come before it.

The basis of representation adopted by the Committee is the same as the representation in the last Convention, except that no county which cast one hundred or more Republican votes at the last election shall have less than one vote in the Convention. Under this basis the respective counties will be entitled to representation and votes as follows:

Chehalis 1 delegate ½ vote; Clarke 4 delegates 4 votes; Clallam 1 delegate 1 vote; Cowlitz 1 delegate 1 vote; Island 1 delegate 1 vote; Jefferson 2 delegates 1½ votes; King 2 delegates 2 votes; Kitsap 2 delegates 1½ votes; Klickitat 1 delegate ½ vote; Lewis 1 delegate 1 vote; Mason 1 delegate ½ vote; Pacific 1 delegate 1 vote; Pierce 2 delegates 1½ votes; Skamania 1 delegate 1 vote; Snohomish 1 delegate 1 vote; Stevens 1 delegate 1 vote; Thurston [illegible] delegates 2½ votes; Walla Walla 3 delegates 3 votes; Wahkiakum 1 delegate ½ vote; Whatcom 1 delegate 1 vote; Yakima 1 delegate ½ vote.

It is respectfully recommended to the several counties to hold their Primaries on the 2d and their County Conventions on the 9th day of April.

The Committee would urgently request every republican to attend the primary meetings and elect as such delegates firm friends of the Republican cause—the cause of Freedom and Progress, the cause which will in the future as in the past promote the best interests of the whole people.

We call upon all Republicans to remain firmly united, and under no circumstances to allow disorganizing influences to divide and endanger the success of the Republican party. Everything now indicates the success of our party at the ensuing election.

EDWARD ELDRIDGE, Chairman.

P. D. Moore, Secretary.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies. See that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases a special study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn certificates dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are from the shoe-makers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them, unless you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon defies contradiction by people by exhibiting [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] certificates [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial (Private Entrance on Commercial), San Francisco. Post Office Box 957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.
